

RE:WEALTH

Remembering. Reclaiming. Regenerating.

A celebration of Black wealth, ownership, legacy, and collective possibility.

Miami Art Week · Historic Hampton House
Proposed: Thu, Dec 2 or Fri, Dec 3, 2027

THE PLACE

Some places hold more than history. They hold possibility.

During segregation, the Historic Hampton House offered Black travelers, artists, athletes, and movement leaders a place to gather, celebrate, organize, and belong. Saved through community preservation, the House remains a living testament to what Black communities built—and what future generations can inherit.

THE GATHERING

A gala-style fundraiser for intentional guests across investment, philanthropy, entrepreneurship, arts, corporate leadership, and community. Cocktails, dinner, music, and real connection—with museum-approved interpretation of the building's history. The celebration, not a string of speeches, is the heart of it.

THE MOVEMENT

Behind the evening

Remembering

the histories, systems, and traditions that shape our relationship with wealth.

Reclaiming

the agency to define, create, and own our futures.

Regenerating

resources, opportunities, and relationships that outlast us.

In practice: the RE:WEALTH Fellowship, fiscal sponsorship, community coaching, and strategic connections.

WHY IT MATTERS

A fundraiser that feels like an extraordinary celebration—and the inaugural edition of an annual Art Week destination. It honors Black achievement and the community infrastructure behind it, while investing in today's creators, wealth builders, and leaders, in visible partnership with Hampton House.

Partnerships, program, access, budget, and final date are in development. Official 2027 Art Week dates not yet published.

WE'RE SEEKING

- Historic Hampton House collaboration
- Founding sponsors and patrons
- A cross-sector host committee
- Cultural and hospitality partners
